

INDIA AUTRY

JACOB BANUELOS

ALL I'M ASKING FOR

WRITTEN BY INDIA AUTRY

DIRECTED BY BRIAN SCHWARTZ

Audrey, a free-spirited serial dater, and George, a studious ladder-climber, are friends who conceal their romantic natures. Will music inspire them to take off their masks?

Writer & Producer's Statement

The themes of "All I'm Asking For" were inspired by "Breakfast at Tiffany's," bringing a modern twist to the classic film - an influence which is reflected in the art department, wardrobe and even the naming of the characters. The actor's original song about a friend who is so much more was an organic fit to the film.

India Astry, Writer/Producer/Audrey

India wrote, produced and starred in the short “Brutally Yours,” shot by “Blue Valentine” producer Fredric King and starring Broadway’s Darren Bluestone, which screened at Cannes Short Film Corner. She also wrote, directed, produced and starred in “Love-locked,” adapted from her feature film script. India has garnered lead/supporting roles in indie films, including “But Not For Me,” featuring Roger Guenveur Smith, which won the audience award at Brooklyn Film Festival.

Jacob Banuelos, George

Jacob is a musician and singer/songwriter from Northern Virginia. He wrote and performed the film’s original song “All I’m Asking For.” He has written many songs as a solo artist, after a long stint in a band.

Brian Daniel Schwartz, Director

Brian Daniel Schwartz is a multi-talented visual and performing artist. He was selected for the Telluride Student Symposium. His short films include “Halfway There,” “You Can Leave Now,” “Kosovo,” “New Genre,” “Hands,” “Being Yourself,” “Lionel,” “Running” and “All I’m Asking For.” He has written three feature-length screenplays – “Adults,” “Break for Real” and “Back to Life.” He wrote, produced and directed the play, Interconnected, at the 2015 Capital Fringe Festival 2015, along with Karen Snyder. And he released an EP album of original songs, Man, <http://www.cdbaby.com/cd/brianschwartz>.

Aaron Goodmiller, Producer

German filmmaker Aaron Goodmiller of Mod Films has been making movies since 2001. Producing two full-length features and 11 shorts. He also was the director of one of the features, “Admins,” and five of the shorts. His film “Admins” received nine nominations and two wins at the World Music and Independent Film Festival, including best film. “Admins” was nominated for best picture at the Independent Film Festival North Hollywood. His film “Ghosts Don’t Exist” received two nominations at the DC Independent Film Festival and a win at the Chicago South Asian Film Festival.
